"There is no doubt they do it. They do get people, they get other people to harass them, I mean, we had a man screaming at the other side of the room like a maniac, screaming, 'You want to protect criminals, you're a criminal,'" Trump said at the White House Monday. "I don't know what happened to him but he was very loud." Kavanaugh was accused in a secret FBI background investigation of sexually assaulting Christine Blasey Ford in the 1980s while they both attended a high school party. Kavanaugh has denied the allegations. While Trump said the "screamer" is on the other side of the room, the raucous rally occurred in the room where Trump took the podium. To validate the use of magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) for the assessment of aortoiliac vascular disease by comparing results with those obtained with iliac artery angiography. MR and iliac angiograms were performed in 76 patients with aortoiliac vascular disease. Imaging techniques included coronal turbo spin echo (TSE) T1-weighted and fast spin echo (FSE) T2-weighted and fat-suppressed T1-weighted images. Time-of-flight MRA and gadolinium-enhanced MRA were performed in 38 and 43 patients, respectively. Each image was analysed independently by two experienced radiologists. Coronal TSE images were evaluated for the presence of stenosis, occlusion, dissection, intimal flap, blood flow and perivascular soft tissue mass. Coronal FSE and fat-suppressed T1-weighted images were evaluated for the presence of stenosis, occlusion, dissection, intimal flap, blood flow and perivascular soft tissue mass.
